

Consultancy Packages

If you need a cost-effective way to ensure that your company meets its statutory obligations and has access to unlimited telephone advice and support then our appointed person packages are ideal.

You can designate HSE Solutions as your 'appointed person' and access a range of benefits for your company via built-in consultancy and training time. This can range from having a named person available a few days a month to having a full time team on-site at your premises.

The packages would usually include most or all of the services listed below;

- Provision of, and updates to a company specific health and safety manual
- A full review of your current health and safety, procedures and training.
- Drafting of or a review of your health and safety policy statement and arrangements.
- A detailed health and safety audit of your management systems and premises and the provision of a detailed report prioritising action required.
- Advice on the development of safe systems of work and risk assessments.
- Advice on the completion of health and safety tender documentation
- Your own personal client advisor, who will always be fully aware of your issues and requirements.
- 24 hour emergency callout service for accidents / emergencies.
- Telephone helpline for advice and guidance on all health and safety matters.
- Liaison with enforcing authorities where required.
- 20% discount on all supplementary services provided by HSE Solutions.
